Niveau I begin / Family	Thématique Nature & small heritage

Verdun-sur-le-Doubs provides a perfect place for cyclists to rest, such an attaching village, at the confluence of the impetuous Doubs River and much calmer Saône. But, perhaps after tasting a pôchouse (a dish of river fish in a white wine sauce), it's time to head on along the cycle route, or rather, twin cycle routes, as EuroVelo 6 and La Voie Bleue continue to share the same path towards Chalon-sur-Saône, following the broad Saône, its valley stretching across an alluvial plain. As well as all the farming here, angling and boating are on offer, but cycling is of course among the top pursuits in the Saône Valley! At Gergy, enjoy a stop to contemplate the meander in the Saône before continuing up to Chalon-sur-Saône, a dynamic Burgundian town.

The Route

A greenway runs from Verdun-sur-le-Doubs to the entrance to Chalon-sur-Saône. In Chalon-sur-Saône, follow Avenue J.-F. Kennedy, with cycle lanes and cycle paths helping cyclists reach the historic centre of town.
