Canals & intimate rivers

The EuroVelo 5 cycle route leaves Germany at Sarrebruck, entering northeast France. It follows the canalized Sarre, which serves for a time as the border between the two countries. The EV5 arrives at Sarreguemines, a pretty town renowned for its ceramics, then continues along the Sarre Canal. At Sarralbe, the Church of St Martin is known as 'the cathedral of the Sarre' for its soaring twin Gothic spires. The town formed part of the Ligne Maginot Aquatique, a water-based defence system. In the Alsace Bossue area, at Harskirchen, discover the unspoilt landscapes of the alluvial plain here, La Honau classified a Natura 2000 Site, home to special flora and fauna. The route crosses woods and beside lakes (notably Le Stock and Gondrexange), taking you through an exceptional environment.

Description

The EuroVelo 5 cycle route is fully signposted along this stage thanks to stickers carrying the EV5 logo placed on signposts. It follows the Sarre Canal for this entire stage. Along the route, you'll find information panels and interpretative desks, giving cyclists information on the local natural and historic heritage. This is an ideal stretch for families.
