EuroVelo 6 - Cycle Route of the rivers

Leaving from Ranchot and crossing Chaux Forest, making the return trip between the Doubs and Loue rivers to see the Saline Royale at Arc-et-Senans is really worth the effort. These neo-classical saltworks, a UNESCO World Heritage Site since 1982, prove magnificent both for their architecture and setting, a gem not to be missed on EuroVelo 6. A further detour is highly recommended if your curiosity is pricked by the history of "white gold" (a nickname for salt); ride along the Voie des Salines to Salins-les-Bains to visit the historic Grande Saline saltworks (also UNESCO listed) and the Musée du Sel. So there's a salty tang to this stage, even if the easy cycling doesn't work up a sweat!

The route

From Ranchot, follow the signs marked Voie des Salines (VDS), towards Rans. Leaving Rans, a fine cycle track runs beside the D31 road, crossing through the forest. There are some slopes, but they are modest. Reaching the end of the cycle track, signposting indicates the way to the Saline Royale to the right.

It's possible to continue up to the town of Salins-les-Bains via the Voie des Salines route, the way here shared with the Tour du Jura loisirs route.
